Generated: 2026-02-19T09:54:48Z
Mode: Overnight

Data Summary

Metric	Value
Total tags analyzed	2,508
Malicious tags	2,120
Suspicious tags	339
Unknown tags	49
Date range	2026-02-03 to 2026-02-19

Note: Today's data (2026-02-19) is partial. Tag count (482) is significantly lower than yesterday (1,712). Day-over-day comparisons use yesterday (Feb 18) vs. the day before (Feb 17) to avoid partial-day distortion. Baseline and z-score sections include today's partial data in the analysis window average.

Note: Some activity may trigger multiple related tags (e.g., GPON worm + router worm). Duplicate counting is possible across overlapping tag detections.

Note: Generic detection tags are reported in their own section (Section 6) and excluded from all other sections.

1. Significant Activity Increases

Tags showing statistically significant increases in session or IP counts compared to the 14-day baseline. Z-score ≥ 3.0 indicates the recent average is at least 3 standard deviations above the baseline mean.

Tags with no activity during the baseline period but meaningful activity in the analysis window.

No tags met the detection criteria for this section.

3. Day-Over-Day Spikes

Tags showing $\geq 100\%$ increase in sessions or IPs from 2026-02-17 to 2026-02-18, or $\geq 3x$ change in session/IP ratio.

4. Ratio Anomalies

Tags where the session-to-IP ratio changed significantly (z-score ≥ 3.0). High ratios (>100) suggest focused campaigns with few actors hitting targets repeatedly. Low ratios (<2) suggest mass reconnaissance scanning.
